City chooses plan for 3rd & C

West Sacramento's redevelopment agency will recommend the selection of a "similar but smaller" version of the Metro Place project for an agency-owned site at the northeast corner of 3rd and C streets, near the I Street Bridge. The proposal is the agency's favorite from among four received when private sector proposals were solicited for the property.

Metro Place is a mixed use project that has experienced high demand for its single-family homes as they are being built at a nearby site.

The other proposal taken seriously for the parcel at 3rd and C is an architecturally ambitious, four story building with a uniquely themed restaurant on the first two floors. The restaurant, proposed by Paul D'Alessandro, would serve American food with an Italian accent, and would feature a collaboration with a Finnish company that makes soapstone products including fireplaces, plates and other household items that need to retain heat or cold. These items would be featured at the restaurant.

But redevelopment agency staff believes that the restaurant proposal may not be financially viable.

The council will instead be asked to authorize exclusive negotiations to make a deal and sell the property for $100,000 to Leonard Development, which plans a project to echo the Metro Place residential project nearby. Metro Place has had strong marketing success for its detached homes – which were the first subdivision in the city's northeast for many years.

Leonard Development's proposal calls for 26 single-family detached homes, 1,300 square feet of retail and five affordable apartments. It was the favorite of most of the redevelopment agency's selection committee except for a representative of the Washington Neighborhood Association, whom agency staff said feared the residential plan's impacts on traffic, parking and schools.

City staff said the Leonard Development proposal appears "sound" and in line with financial expectations already experienced at Metro Place.

They lauded the ambitious "Tulikivi House" restaurant proposal from D'Alessandro, though – while worrying that its "very ambitiousness" helps create "significant feasibility hurdles" while bringing a "relatively low projected rate of return."

Police say man admits killing woman found in car

West Sacramento's police believe a man killed a female acquaintance at her Roseville home, then drove her body to West Sacramento and attempted to drive the car, with the body inside, into the river on Wednesday.

Press releases and police records indicate that local police responded to a riverfront site near 2nd and B streets after receiving a call about a possible dead body in the trunk, at about noon last Wednesday. On scene, they were approached by 26-year old Aaron B. Shank of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Shank told officers he strangled the woman, who was found inside the car and pronounced dead at the scene.

The woman – who owned the car – was later identified as Cristy Bacal, 27, of Roseville. Police believe she was killed a day earlier when Shank was visiting her home.

A statement released by Sgt. Ray Bombardier and Lt. Dan Ruden of the West Sacramento Police Department indicates that Shank drove Bacal's body to West Sacramento to dispose of it.

"It appears that Shank attempted to drive the vehicle into the Sacramento River, but the vehicle became wedged in some trees at the river's edge and stopped," they said.

Bacal's mother had already reported her missing to Roseville police, who were investigating the disappearance. The mother reported that Shank had been jailed on domestic violence charges against Bacal on May 8, but had made bail May 11.

West Sacramento and Roseville crime scene investigators examined Bacal's home for signs that the homicide occurred there.

Shank was arrested.

Cops, firefighters 'go to court'

A 'capacity crowd' of about 550 people crowded into the River City High School gym Friday evening, to watch a good-spirited basketball game between members of West Sacramento's police and firefighting departments. The event benefited scholarships at the school, and was organized with help from the RCHS booster club.

Final score: 75-69, firefighters.

But just wait til next year. . .

A small crowd of seniors on Saturday turned out to "Step Out For Seniors", walking from River Walk Park to Old Sac and back. Vendors, brunch and live entertainment were on hand at the park. The event was organized by the West Sacramento Senior Center in conjunction with others statewide.

Life saver

It sounds like one of those things that can happen in a flash around water.

"I'm roommates with someone who has a pool," said Ann Fausett of West Sacramento. "I invited a friend over from church, and they have two girls. I asked my friend to watch the girls outside while I went inside. The mom turned to look at some roses, and never even knew her daughter had gone into the water."

While the mom's attention was diverted, her three-year old daughter evidently entered the pool and went off of a shallow ledge where young kids were allowed to play.

But before any of the adults even knew the three-year old was in trouble, five-year old Haley Fausett went to the rescue.

"My little girl ran down the steps, went under the water, grabbed her by the arm and threw her onto the side of the pool -- all before the mom knew what happened!," reports Fausett.

The three-year old was unharmed -- although remains a bit leery about returning to the water.

"All she kept saying after she was pulled out of the water, was 'She's my best friend, she's my best friend," Fausett reports.

District releases new teacher salary deal

West Sacramento's school district has released a proposed teacher's contract for public review. The proposed agreement between Washington Unified School District comes after months of troubled negotiations between the two sides.

The new contract calls for a 2.5 percent pay increase for the fiscal year starting July 1, a 1.5 percent increase a year, and an additional one percent raise beginning in the third year of the contract, all "excluding extra duty salary schedule."

The salary increases trigger some other increased employment costs.

WUSD estimates the contract will cost the district an additional $3.7 million over three years.

The funding is to be paid for in the first year through existing account balances, and will be paid for in future years by enrollment growth and "staffing efficiencies realized through increased class sizes at grades four through 12. . . as a result of reducing positions through the layoff process," said a district report to the school board.

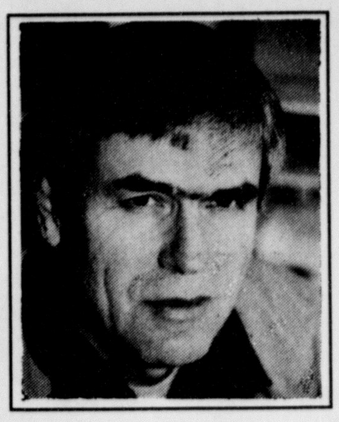
In a press release yesterday, Superintendent Stu Greenfeld said he was "pleased to recommend this agreement to the Board of Education" and to get beyond "the bad feelings that are part of long labor disputes." He noted that the teachers' union was willing to forego pay raises for the past two years in order to help break the impasse.

The school board will accept public comments on the contract proposal at its meeting Thursday.

WUSD announced yesterday it will schedule a special closed-door meeting tonight to discuss the appointment of an interim superintendent to replace Greenfeld -- who is resigning -- and to appoint an interim assistant superintendent of business services.

Is the man in your life suffering from 'brain fog'?

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

I was leisurely thumbing through the Sacramento Bee this past weekend when I came across an Associated Press article entitled "Feud over the scent of a woman." The story was about a wife being charged with trying to harm her chemically sensitive husband with perfumes and scented candles. She also apparently sprayed the house they shared with bug killers and Lysol disinfectant, plugged in scented air fresheners in rooms he frequented, and stationed lavender sachets strategically throughout the home. According to the woman's husband, "This extreme exposure made me very ill with severe brain fog, headache, numbness and trembling and pain throughout my body so severe I could barely move."

The story went on to explain that the couple was feuding over a $150,000 workers compensation settlement the husband had received for a rare new disorder called multiple chemical sensitivity, which is caused by an allergic reaction to perfumes and other scents.

"Hey," I yelled out to my wife, who was in another room, "have you ever heard of something called multiple chemical sensitivity?"

"What?" she yelled back.

"Multiple chemical sensitivity!"

"What is it?"

"A new disease they've discovered!"

"Never heard of it!"

"Well, it says here in the newspaper that some poor guy's wife has been trying to kill him with the perfume she wears and the scented candles she keeps burning. She's been charged with aggravated battery, which, by the way, carries with it a sentence of up to 15 years in prison!"

Apparently tired of yelling back and forth, my wife suddenly joined me in the front room and asked, "What in the world are you talking about?"

"Well, it says here in the paper that they've discovered that some men can get really sick from smelling some of those god-awful perfumes you women are wearing nowadays."

"It does, does it?"

"And I've definitely noticed that over the years I've become more sensitive to women's perfumes. I wonder who thinks up all those horrible smells, anyway?"

"Probably the same people who gave the world Old Spice, Brut, Jade East and English Leather, which women have been smelling for decades without complaining."

"Anyway," I said, "it says here that scented candles can bring on multiple chemical sensitivity, too."

"Is that right?"

"And it can give some men very severe brain fog."

"Severe brain fog?"

"That's right."

"And just what are some of the symptoms of this severe brain fog?" she asked with interest.

"Well, among other things, it apparently makes men really feeble and barely able to get out of their chair."

"And they're calling this a brand new disease?"

"Very funny."

"I've got work to do."

"But this is serious," I said. "And to tell you the truth, I've noticed that I start to feel a little foggy myself when you light up one of those scented candles of yours."

"No matter how many times you ask, Daryl, I'm not throwing away the scented candles."

"But I could end up with severe brain fog."

"I know you hate scented candles, but you were the one who insisted on getting an indoor dog that smells up the whole house."

"But those candles smell soooooooo bad!"

"Not as bad as the dog."

"But I bathe him every week."

"The candles go when the dog goes."

"And you don't even care if I get severe brain fog?"

"Trust me -- no one will notice the difference."

And since I have a little space left, here are some actual excerpts from the classified sections of a few newspapers that definitely need to put a little more money into their editing staffs:

Great Dames for sale; We do not tear your clothing with machinery -- we do it carefully by hand; Now is your chance to get your ears pierced and get an extra pair to take home, too; Girl wanted to assist magician in cutting off head illusion -- Blue Cross and salary; Mixing bowl set designed to please a cook with round bottom for efficient beating; Three year old teacher needed for pre-school -- experience preferred; Stock up and save -- limit one; Dog for sale -- eats anything and is fond of children; Our experienced Mom will care for your child -- fenced yard, meals, and smacks included; Illiterate? Write today for free help; and finally: For sale: antique desk suitable for lady with thick legs and large drawers.

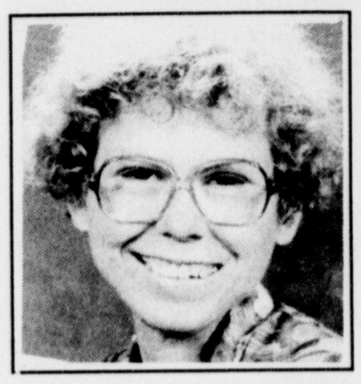
Obituaries

Lloyd Edwin Applegate

Lloyd Applegate passed away at the age of 78 on May 14, 2003. He was the beloved husband of Cecelia Parella Applegate of West Sacramento; the loving father of Connie Mercer and husband Dr. Keith Mercer of Nevada City and Linda Kimsey and husband Michael Kimsey of Rancho Cordova; the dear brother of Helen Moore and husband Andy Moore of Sacramento and brother-in-law of Della Beltrami of West Sacramento; and the devoted grandfather of Bryce and Annie Hancock and Lindsay and Matthew Mercer. He is also survived by several nieces and nephews and was preceded in death by his parents, Lloyd and Minnie Applegate, native Sacramento residents.

Lloyd was a WWII Army veteran and a pioneer in the equipment rental industry, founding West Sacramento Rentals in 1959. He was a former member of the California Rental Association and the West Sacramento Kiwanis Club, and was an avid fisherman who loved to travel with his wife, Cecelia.

Private services were arranged by River Cities Funeral Chapel of West Sacramento. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery in Sacramento.



Suzanne (Colbert) Estes

Suzanne Estes was born on July 4, 1947 and passed away peacefully on May 14, 2003. She was preceded in death by her parents, Clifford and Gladys Colbert, and her former husband, David Estes.

Suzanne's life presented many challenges but she always persevered and lived independently. She believed in angels and had a special friend in Heather Simpson. She is survived by her sister, Garla Quarnberg, and brother-in-law Max Quarnberg, and was aunt to Kristan Love, Holly Looman, Katrina Clemons, Gavin and Kyle Hill, and great-aunt to twelve children.

Friends and family attended a memorial service in honor of Suzanne's life on May 19, 2003 in the River City Funeral Chapel in West Sacramento. Memorials may be offered to the United Cerebral Palsy Association, 3102 Street, Sacramento, CA 95816.

"O.K. When I was purchasing my home, I kind of remember someone talking about supplemental taxes, but in the excitement of things at the time, I don't remember. Now I have another tax bill called "Supplemental Taxes." Can you clear this up?"

Supplemental taxes were enacted to require the tax assessor to appraise property on the date a change in ownership occurs, or new construction is completed.

Taxes are computed from the 1st of the month following the change, to the end of the fiscal year. In most cases, this assessment results in one -- or possibly two -- supplemental tax bills being sent to the property owner in addition to the regular secured property tax bill that is mailed annually. Property taxes are issued twice per year, and when there is a change in ownership the assessor appraises the property to determine the new base year value as of the date of change of ownership. Then they calculate the difference between the new base year value and the existing tax roll value. The result is a change in value that will result in a change in taxes that will result in a "NOTICE OF SUPPLEMENTAL ASSESSMENT AND IMPENDING TAX BILL."

What it really is is the difference between what the seller paid in property taxes up to the date of transfer of title and recalculated from the assessor to the new tax base. More times then not, that value has increased and you will usually pay supplemental taxes. The longer the seller owned the property the potential in a higher amount of a supplemental tax bill. If you have impounds, those tax figures are based on the actual tax roll of the time purchase and will be paid by your lender. If you receive a supplemental tax bill, you will usually only have to pay them once then the tax bill is caught up with where it should be.

Your mortgage company usually will not pay any supplements; so if you receive this notice do not assume your lender will pay them.

As homeowners, we have become accustomed in tossing advertisements away. However during your first year of home ownership, I always tell my clients to look carefully at everything that comes in the mail because there may be your supplemental tax bill. If you have additional questions we are always here to answer you call.

River City tennis duo Saelee & Hansen win doubles at sectionals

From River City High School

Nai Saelee and Nikki Hansen, a pair of River City High School seniors, won the Sac-Joaquin Section Division III girls doubles title last week in Stockton. The two had teamed to take the Capital Valley Conference's (CVC) title the previous week and then dispatched the top doubles players from the section's five other leagues at the Oak Park tennis courts. It was the second section girls doubles crown for Hansen, who teamed with 2002 River City graduate Keonakone Lattasima last year.

In other action, Raiders Cheng Saetern and Aseng Saechao lost a tough three-set match in the first round, but teammates Bhaves Patel and Sen Saetern won three straight matches and advanced all the way to the finals before losing to a doubles pair from Modesto's Central Catholic High.

The section team playoffs also began last week and the Raiders, undefeated CVC champions, hosted the second-place team from the GEL, the Lindhurst Blazers. The Raiders won every match, with Hansen's 6-4,6-4 girls singles win being the closest match of the day. Patel took the boys singles, Saetern and Saechao won in boys doubles, and Nai Saelee and Sen Saetern were victorious in mixed doubles. The day's best performance came from the girls doubles team of cousins Leslie and Mai Ker Yang who won handily 6-1,6-1.

The 2003 season will come to an end this week as the Raiders hope to win the section team championship. Next up will be a quarterfinal match at Mira Loma and should the Raiders win, the team playoff semifinals and title match will be played as a doubleheader on Thursday, May 22nd at Stockton's Oak Park.

SPORTS INSIDER

Kings Korner

The Sacramento Kings season came to a shocking close on Saturday night after losing in "Big D".

The Purple, Silver and Black played their hearts out but they were no match for the determined Mavericks. Dallas really wanted to win this game very badly and it showed in the second half of the winner takes all final game of their best of seven series. The absence of Chris Webber was most evident in game 7. The Kings had many different players' step up to replace Webber's production but in the end they ran out of weapons to use against the hard charging Mavs.

Losing game 3 in double overtime at the Arco was a dagger in the heart but three words really killed the Kings: Nick Van Exel.

The Sacramento fans only had a few days to celebrate their victory in game six over Dallas while the Lakers fans were in mourning after their loss to San Antonio. The league MVP, Tim Duncan, lead his Spurs to victory over the defending champions and are now the favorite to win the Western Division title.

I like Dallas to win the whole enchilada! These guys are on a mission and I don't think Mr. Robinson is going to contribute enough firepower for the Spurs to derail Mark Cuban and his Mavericks in the battle of Texas. Remember the Mavs did win 60 games - Dallas wins in six games!

In the Eastern Conference the New Jersey Nets lead the Detroit Pistons 1-0 in their best of seven series. The Nets have more depth on their bench than Detroit and should beat the Pistons in five games.

Major League Baseball

The San Francisco Giants (27-17) are still leading the Western Division but their lead is shrinking fast. The G-men have lost eight out the last 10 ball games and their young pitching staff looks lost without Robb Nen.

The Giants all-star closer is out for the season with a bum shoulder. The Giants will use a committee lead by Rodriquez, Worrell and Nathan to shut down their opponents in the late innings. The Giants called up pitchers Chad Zerbe and Manny Aybar from Fresno to give them a helping arm.

The Giants management gambled that there young starters Moss and Foppert would fill in the gap when they traded Russ Ortiz and Livan Hernandez but after a great start the opposition is starting to catch up to the youngsters pitches.

The Oakland A's (26-17) are only two games back of division leading Seattle but the big news is the play of outfielder, Eric Byrnes. The ex-River Cat is taking advantage of an injury to Jermine Dye to put on a clinic for A's manager, Ken Macha. Byrnes is batting .323 and making all the right moves on the playing field and has become a fan favorite in Oakland just like he did at Raley Field.

The Giants are on the road this week playing in Arizona and Colorado. The G-men will return to Pac Bell on May 27th to face the Diamondbacks. The A's are at home this week playing host to the Twins and Royals.

Boxing

Professional boxing returns to Sacramento on Wednesday, May 28th at the Raddison Hotel. The main event will feature Eric Regan (20-0, 13 KO's) defending his IBA welterweight title against Ron Weaver (30-12, 23 KO's) of Denver. The boxing event will include six other four round bouts with the doors opening at 6 p.m. Tickets can be purchased at the Raddison gift shop for $30, $40 and $50.

Enjoy Memorial Day!

See ya in two weeks!

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF DANILE PINKARD, JR.
CASE NUMBER PB03-35

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of Daniel Pinkard, Jr.:

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Kathleen R. Sylvia, Public Administrator, in the Superior Court of Yolo, County of Yolo.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Kathleen R. Sylvia, Public Administrator, be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on June 3, 2003, at 8:30 a.m. at Dept. 7 at Yolo County Superior Court, 725 Court St., Woodland, CA 95695.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a "Request for Special Notice" (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A "Request for Special Notice" form is available from the court clerk.

(NAPS)—César Chávez has been called one of the most important figures in American labor history. Robert Kennedy called the later Presidential Medal of Freedom recipient "one of the heroic figures of our time." By the time of his death 10 years ago at age 66, Chávez had revolutionized the lives of migrant farm laborers in the Southwest.

Chávez was born March 31, 1927, on the small farm near Yuma, Arizona that his grandfather homesteaded during the 1880s. The Depression cost the family their farm when young César was 10 years old. These were bitterly poor years for the Chávez family. Together with thousands of other displaced families, they were forced to embark on a new life as migrant workers, travelling the Southwest, laboring in fields and vineyards. César left school after the eighth grade to help support his family.

In 1945, Chávez joined the U.S. Navy, serving two years in the western Pacific. After returning to civilian life, he married Helen Fabela, whom he met while working in Delano, Cal. vineyards, in 1948. The Chávez family settled in the East San Jose barrio of Sal Si Puedes, Spanish for "get out if you can."

In 1952, Chávez, working in apricot orchards outside San Jose, met Fred Ross, an organizer for the Community Service Organization. Chávez became a full-time organizer for CSO, establishing new chapters in California and Arizona. In 1962, after failing to convince the CSO to commit itself to farm worker organizing, he left to found the National Farm Workers Association (NFWA).

In September 1965, Chávez's NFWA struck

against major Delano-area table and wine grape growers, the beginning of a long, difficult struggle to improve working conditions for farm laborers. By 1970 most growers had signed contracts with the union, by then called the United Farm Workers. It was the first of many victories for Chávez.

This year, the U.S. Postal Service is commemorating Chávez's life with a stamp released on the tenth anniversary of his death, April 23, 2003, in the Los Angeles area.

Yolo County map, zoning info online

Yolo County is laying plans to bring geographical data from all of its cities and unincorporated areas "online" for computer access within the next year. Visitors to the county website can currently view some data from unincorporated areas at http://www.yolocounty.org/gis, but information from Yolo's cities will soon be available there as well.

Among the information that will be available at the website are assessor parcels, roads, fire districts, supervisorial boundaries, flood zones, addresses, zoning features, zip codes and other data.

"Public access to the GIS system will empower local citizens by giving them direct access to vital information. Local residents will be able to utilize this information more efficiently and effectively," commented Lynnel Pollock, Chair of the Yolo County Board of Supervisors, in a press release last month.

Salome's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Lots of possibilities begin to open up by midweek. Some seem more appealing than others. But wait for more facts to emerge later on before you consider which to choose.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Bravo to the determined Bovine. While others might give up, you continue to search for answers. Expect your Taurean tenacity to begin paying off by week's end.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You might want to consider stepping back from the task at hand for a while. This could help you get a better perspective on what you've done and what still needs to be done.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Your keen Cancerian insight should help you determine whether a new offer is solid or just more fluff 'n' stuff. The clues are all there waiting for you to find them.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Being ignored is difficult for any proud Leo or Leona. But pushing yourself back into the spotlight might be unwise. Instead, let things work themselves out at their own pace.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Trying to uncover a colleague's secret under the pretext of showing concern is ill-advised. Control your curiosity to avoid raising resentment in the workplace.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Expect to hear good news about a loved one. Also, be prepared for some changes in several family relationships that could develop from this lucky turn of events.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Some surprises are expected to accompany a number of changes that will continue through part of next week. At least one could involve a romantic situation.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You might be upset by some of your critics. But most of your associates continue to have faith in your ability to get the job done, and done well.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A workplace goal that suddenly seems out of reach is no problem for the sure-footed Goat, who moves steadily forward despite any obstacles placed in his or her way.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Uncertainty about who is right and who isn't might keep you from making a clear-cut decision. Wait until you know more about what you're being asked to decide.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Be careful to keep your emotions in check when dealing with a demanding personal situation. You need to set an example of strength for others to follow.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have an extraordinary ability to rally people to do their best. You would be a treasure as a teacher.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 NT	2 ♠	2 NT	4 ♠
Pass	Pass	5 ♥	Dble

Opening lead — king of clubs.

There are players who indulge regularly in deceptive bidding. There is nothing wrong with this style, provided the practitioner can point to more successes than failures over the long haul.

The danger that lies in making such bids is that all too often the deceptive bidder misleads his partner instead of the opponents. Nevertheless, there are occasions when a well-calculated deceptive move can pay big dividends while running very little risk of luring partner into a critical mistake.

Consider the present deal, where Edith Freilich (formerly Kemp) held the South hand. Her partner opened one notrump, indicating 12 to 14 points in the partnership methods, and East overcalled with two spades.

Mrs. Freilich felt that East-West were very likely to make at least a game in spades, so she did not see much point in making a routine bid of three hearts. Instead, she decided to bid two notrump, ostensibly showing some spade strength, in the hope of discouraging her opponents from persisting in spades.

As it happened, West had much too good a hand to bid less than four spades, but when this came around to Mrs. Freilich, she bid five hearts. West then elected to take the safe course by doubling, and that ended the bidding. West led the K-Q-A of clubs, and five hearts doubled eventually went down one — 100 points.

Even if West had led or shifted to a diamond and gotten a ruff, Mrs. Freilich would still have gone down only two — 300 points. This would also have been an excellent result, considering that East-West could have scored 480 or 980 points by bidding a game or a slam in spades.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

Brown Act followup, plus a farewell

Several weeks ago, the News-Ledger reported that the "Kelso Committee," an advisory committee started for the Port of Sacramento at the suggestion of port commission chairman Mike McGowan, may have broken the state's open meeting laws when it met in private in Sacramento on April 14.

The committee's chairman, Professor Clark Kelso of the McGeorge School of Law, politely responded with an apology for not keeping an earlier pledge to follow those laws, while maintaining that the committee was a "private" one formed by Kelso himself, and not by the Port of Sacramento. Thus, he said, it was not subject to the state's open meeting laws.

The News-Ledger respectfully disagrees. The committee was a product of the port chairman's wishes. It was discussed and "blessed" by the port's governing board -- though without a formal vote -- as it was being formed.

And if the committee is "private," why is the Port of Sacramento paying for the committee's professional public relations support?

The port commission should have clarified the Kelso Committee's status at the very beginning, instead of trying to have the best of both worlds -- a public committee that can also be a private one.

One of West Sacramento's longtime pillars died this week – Juanita Lopez.

She had been ill for many years, but it never stopped her local activism.

Juanita was active in many assets of the community, from promoting the city's incorporation in the late 1980s to her ceaseless lobbying for a true local senior center. She was outspoken on many things. She was one of West Sacramento's most vocal civic boosters.

Agree with her or not, you had to admire Juanita's tirelessness and dedication to her city.

Letters to the Editor

School board members don't listen

Prior to a change implemented in 2001, the administrative staff at River City High School had the authority to approve or deny a senior in danger of failing, the privilege of participating in the senior trip or walking at graduation. Simply put, if the student did not have enough credits, he/she could not participate. In 2002, the WUSD Board of Education approved a policy that allowed these same students an appeal process for walking at graduation. At the school board meeting of May 8th, the board considered revising the policy to include the senior trip. How many times will we lower the standard for our students and expect them to still perform?

As a parent of a former, current and future senior, I addressed the board urging them to dismiss this policy and give the authority back to the high school administrators. These are the people hired and paid to decide whether our students are performing to the standards necessary for graduation. The school board was not elected to decide this, nor are they qualified to do so. I was not alone, more than 12 others spoke in support of dropping the policy, including teachers, counselors, administrators, students and community members.

Our reasoning was straightforward. Before students even begin high school, all students and their parents are aware of the requirements to graduate from high school. Along with meeting these requirements is the honor of participating in senior events. Students who are falling behind are offered extra help through summer school, night school tutoring, and Cyber High. For most situations, these are ample opportunities that allow them to earn the needed credits.

Additionally, future seniors will see this as an "ace up their sleeve," a little insurance policy on which they can collect when they are in the same position as their time to graduate approaches, and they may not try as hard to meet the requirements, as did most of their peers, whose efforts to meet those requirements will be made less significant if deficient students are allowed to participate in the end of the year senior activities.

Throughout the board's discussion, they would mention how the majority rules when they could not reach agreement. Yet, even though the majority in the audience wanted them to drop this policy, as pointed out to them by the student board member, they did not follow this premise. These individuals, for whom we voted to represent our values and expectations, did exactly the opposite! They discarded the testimony of every speaker and "followed their hearts," as stated by a few members of the board. The board, it seems, refused to let the testimony of the vast majority of those speaking before them, including the school principal and other administrators, to contradict their preconceived opinions and/or prejudices. It's likely, however, that only a very small minority of those deficient in graduation requirements are actually struggling or have genuine family problems beyond their control.

We did not vote for the board members to follow their hearts. Their job is to represent their constituents and to increase the success of the education system in our district. They did neither by ignoring the testimony of their constituents and lowering the expectations for our students. Is this who we want to make decisions for our children?

Whether or not you agree with my position on this issue, all parents should be concerned about the individuals who are "representing" them on this board and how they make their decisions.

I urge you to attend a few meetings and you can see for yourself.

Erie Canal Attracts Boaters, Bikers, Hikers

Summer is fast approaching. The days are growing longer, the air more languid, and visions of riding bikes down country lanes or swinging into a slow-moving river are making you count the hours till the weekend. If you're looking for a peaceful way to spend a few hours, a couple of days, a week or even longer, pack yourself up and head for the Erie Canal.

Originally the brainchild of New York Gov. DeWitt Clinton, the Erie Canal was conceived as a major trade link between Buffalo in the west and Albany in the east in the early 1800s. It opened in 1825, a 363-mile-marvel of then-modern engineering.

If you follow the route of the canal today, you'll see that nearly every major city in the state lies along its waters. And the Erie is not alone: By 1828 the Champlain, the Oswego and the Cayuga-Seneca, all lateral canals, had opened to connect the Erie with other waterways. But by the second half of the 20th century, highways, railroads and the St. Lawrence Seaway drained traffic away from the canals.

Recently rechristened the New York State Canal System, the canals — 524 miles of navigable inland waterway — have been invigorated by recreational and historic use. Today the system includes five lakes, short canal sections, feeder reservoirs, canal terminals and more. To travel the whole of the waterway you will pass through 25 counties and almost 200 villages and towns.

Ready to begin your journey? You can rent a boat, bring your own, take a day or overnight cruise, hire a captain — or hike or bike more than 230 miles of multi-use recreational trails across the state. There are forts, festivals, regattas, parks, historic homes, tugboats, races, museums, fireworks — you name it, you'll find it somewhere on the canal in the summertime.

Whitehall, at the eastern end of the Erie Canal, is the birthplace of the American Navy during the Revolutionary War and has a museum to tell you all about it. A little farther west, in Rome, step into 1800s canal life at the Rome Erie Canal Village. July 7-22, you've got the 6th Annual Canal Cruise, "a flotilla of fun, adventure and camaraderie," beginning at the beginning in Whitehall and ending in the twin cities of the Tonawandas, just north of Buffalo. In Lockport (western end), you'll see the famous double locks that, in the 1800s, General Lafayette called the "greatest engineering feats in of the world."

For a calendar of events, attractions on and near the canal route, cruise companies, places to camp, lodging and much more, start at www.canals.state.ny.us or www.nycanal.com.

CRITIC'S CORNER

By D.N.A. Smith

"X2: X-Men United"

Running Time: 133 minutes
MPAA rating: PG-13

The summer blockbuster season is finally upon us, and the opening salvo is being fired by director Brian Singer with his second installment to the X-Men franchise, "X2: X-Men United."

The film begins with a spectacular action sequence involving an attack on the White House by a blue, pointy-tailed mutant named Nightcrawler (Alan Cumming), who has the ability to teleport from place to place, leaving a puff of sulfurous smoke in his wake. Nightcrawler easily infiltrates the Oval Office and nearly assassinates the president.

After the attack, the government begins a push to legalize the registration of all mutants, and the president dispatches Gen. Stryker (Brian Cox) to infiltrate Prof. Xavier's (Patrick Stewart) school and headquarters of the X-Men. Stryker uses the president's green light as a justification for his own sinister plans, mainly the kidnapping of Professor X and using his telepathic powers to kill every mutant in the world.

Faced with this new threat, the X-Men (Wolverine, Jean Grey, Storm, Rogue, et al) team up with the "bad" mutants (Mystique, Magneto, Nightcrawler) to rescue Professor X and Cyclops and foil Stryker's plans of a mutant holocaust.

"X2" is a film that tries to pack in as many characters, storylines and action scenes as possible. It is an ambitious undertaking, and Singer almost manages to pull it off.

Every character gets a moment to shine, but with so many characters and subplots, it is difficult to make an emotional connection with any of the heroes. This is important because there are events that transpire in the film's third act that require the audience to be emotionally invested in the characters. I don't think the movie's ending packs the punch that Singer intended — and it may leave audiences unfamiliar with the comic book scratching their heads.

Mystique (Rebecca Romaijn-Stamos) is the indigo femme fatale of "X-Men."

Still, after sitting through three-months' worth of mediocre Hollywood castoffs, "X2" is the breath of fresh air and the thrill ride I've been waiting for.

Jill Jackson's HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD ... You can imagine the excitement in the Douglas family when little Miss Carys Douglas made an appearance. Before the birth of Michael and Catherine's daughter, it was all boys. Kirk Douglas has three sons and two grandsons, and I'm told he's overjoyed with the baby girl. I'm also told she has the Douglas dimple in her chin, and her mother's lovely pouty mouth and turned-up nose. And just in case you didn't know, Carys is pronounced "KEHRIS" and means "beloved one" in the language of Catherine's native Wales.

Michael Douglas

Andy Garcia was so taken with Rachel Weisz's performance with him in "Confidence" that he's made plans to co-star with the lovely lady in not one, not two, but THREE upcoming films. Two are yet to be firmed up, but the first is to be "The Lost City" co-starring Dustin Hoffman, Robert Duvall and Benicio Del Toro. Rachel's last name is pronounced "VISE." Her parents fled Europe to England, where she was raised, and she attended Cambridge University.

It's been a while since Kevin Costner made a movie, but now he's all set to join Joan Allen in "The Upside of Anger." Allen plays the mother of four strong-willed girls and must deal with them without a father. Kevin is a former baseball player who is a friend of the family.

James Purefoy gets a big big break when he co-stars with Reese Witherspoon, who is hot, hot, hot, in "Vanity Fair." Set in the 1840s and based on the Thackery novel, it centers on a lower-class girl, Becky Sharp, who climbs the social ladder from a poverty-stricken background. Purefoy will portray Rawdon Crawley the raffish son of Sir Pitt Crawley. He ultimately marries Becky.

After many, many years of happening at the end of March, the Motion Picture Academy has changed the date of the Oscar show for 2004. It will take place on Feb. 29, which incidentally is Leap Day. ... And still more on the Academy, the tribute recently to director Vincente Minnelli was a huge success. The theater was packed with celebs, several of whom had worked with Vincente, including Cyd Charisse and Leslie Caron (Gigi). Liza wasn't there — I'm told due to a previous commitment — but she did send a lovely message.

Sissy LeBlanc's "Southern Belle's Handbook" (William Morrow) has arrived. Spawned from Loraine Despres' best seller, "The Scandalous Summer of Sissy LeBlanc," it tells, along with drawings, "How to Attract a Man," "How to Tell If He's Good Enough for You," "How to Keep Him Happy," etc., etc., etc. Priced at around $9, it's small enough in size to make a great greeting card, or a stocking stuffer. Try it. You'll like it.

BITS 'N' PIECES: I'm wondering how Monica Lewinsky words it in her resume. Certainly her claim to fame is her relationship with the Leader of the Free World in the Oval Office. ... Mary Tyler Moore's Honorary Spirit Award, given her by Women Changing the World, was well-deserved. She has worked tirelessly to combat diabetes. ... Wanna see stars? Try Ago in West Hollywood. Warren Beatty and Bruce Willis were both seen chowing down there on the same night. ... Gwyneth Paltrow is still depressed over the death of her father. Friends are concerned, and were stunned to learn she pulled out of "Happy Endings" with Ray Liotta and Lisa Kudrow. ... AND didya know that Billy Bob Thornton has been married FIVE TIMES?

BLACK OLIVES SHOW THEIR VERSATILITY

Nearly everyone is familiar with olives, and most of us love them, even youngsters. There are at least a dozen varieties grown, but my favorites are the pitted black ripe ones.

We know olives are an essential to the putanesca pasta sauce, as a topping for pizza, in Greek salad and in the martini. But they also add zing to meat, poultry and fish dishes. With readers in mind, I asked the people at Bell-Carter/Lindsay, one of the foremost processors of olives, to develop some recipes I could pass along. And here they are.

In the first, ricotta, olives and fresh tomatoes make a creamy new way to serve pasta. The salad is a variation of a Sicilian presentation of blood oranges, olives and fresh fennel. And last, a mix of black ripe and Manzanilla olives garnish and add zest to green beans or asparagus.

CREAMY TOMATO AND OLIVE PASTA

- 8 ounces uncooked penne pasta
- 2 large ripe tomatoes
- 1 cup part skim or whole milk ricotta cheese
- 1/2 cup Lindsay black ripe pitted olives or stuffed Manzanilla olives, drained and quartered
- 1/3 cup chopped fresh basil
- 2 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil
- 1 tablespoon balsamic vinegar
- Salt and fresh ground black pepper to taste

Cook pasta according to package directions. Meanwhile, place a strainer over a large bowl. Cut tomatoes crosswise in half; with fingers, press seeds and juice into strainer. With wooden spoon, press on seeds to extract juices; discard seeds. Chop tomatoes; add to bowl with juices. To bowl, add ricotta, olives, basil, olive oil, vinegar, salt and pepper; mix well. Drain pasta, add to bowl and toss with ricotta mixture. Transfer to serving dish and serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

ORANGE AND OLIVE SALAD

- 4 large navel oranges
- *1 (2.5-ounce) can Lindsay black ripe sliced olives, drained
- 1/4 cup slivered almonds, toasted
- 1 small bulb fresh fennel, sliced crosswise
- 3 tablespoons Italian salad dressing
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh basil
- 4 large radicchio, red leaf or Boston lettuce leaves

Peel oranges and coarsely chop, reserving juices from cutting board; place chopped oranges in medium bowl. Add olives, almonds, fennel, dressing, basil, and reserved orange juice. Cover and refrigerate at least 30 minutes or up to 24 hours. Serve over leaves. Makes 4 servings.

*Kalamata pitted olives may be substituted.

GREEN BEANS WITH MIXED OLIVES

- *1 pound fresh green beans
- 1/2 cup Lindsay black ripe pitted and stuffed Manzanilla olives, coarsely chopped
- 2 tablespoons drained sun-dried tomatoes packed in oil
- 2 tablespoons coarse-grained mustard
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 small clove garlic, chopped

Steam beans or cook in simmering water until crisp-tender, about 7 minutes. Meanwhile, combine olives, dried tomatoes, mustard, olive oil and garlic. Drain beans, transfer to serving dish and top with olive mixture. Makes 4 servings.

*Steamed or roasted asparagus may be substituted.

Graduation Parties

Whether your graduate is receiving a diploma from high school or college, you'll probably want to share the special occasion with family and friends. Here's a recipe guaranteed to head the "honor roll" of party celebration foods. By the way, if you don't have a graduate in your family, how about hosting a party anyway and celebrate the coming of summer. You may just receive a diploma from everyone as the "hostess with the mostest."

GRADUATION LOOSE MEAT SANDWICHES

- 2 pounds extra-lean ground sirloin beef or turkey breast
- 1 1/2 cups finely chopped onion
- 2 cups diet cola
- 2 teaspoons parsley flakes
- 1/8 teaspoon black pepper
- 12 small hamburger buns

In a large skilled sprayed with butter-flavored cooking spray, brown meat and onion. Add diet cola, parsley flakes and black pepper. Mix well to combine. Lower heat and simmer for 20 minutes or until most of the moisture evaporates, stirring occasionally. For each sandwich, spoon about 1/3 cup meat mixture between a hamburger bun. Serves 12.

THE YOLO INDEPENDENT — FRIDAY, APRIL 16, 1920

OFFICERS NAMED BY PARENT-TEACHERS YESTERDAY

For the coming year officers of the Parent-Teacher Club were elected yesterday afternoon at a special session.

Those elected are: President, Mrs. M. L. Manchester; Vice-President, Mrs. F. De Riso; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Belle Parkinson; Treasurer, Mrs. R. M. Colclough; Auditor, Mrs. A. Dassonville; Historian, Mrs. H. A. Palm.

May 20th was chosen by the club as the date on which a shower would be given when each member will offer something she sees is needed by the club.

The club decided also to discontinue the weekly dances that have been so popular with the young and old of the town. Later on the dances will be resumed as an entertainment for one evening of each week.

CHILD DIED OF PNEUMONIA.

Cora Laverne Phelps, aged one year and one month, died last Wednesday at the home of its parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Phelps north of town.

The child contracted a bad case of pneumonia and succumbed to the disease. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon, interment being in the Odd Fellows Lawn Cemetery in Sacramento.

WANTED—Men or Women to take orders among friends and neighbors for the genuine guaranteed hosiery, full line for men, women and children. Eliminates darning. We pay 50c an hour spare time or $24 a week for full time. Experience unnecessary. Write International Stocking Mills, Norristown, Pa.

delighted to buy whole fish just fresh from the river and in a few hours over 500 pounds were sold to anxious buyers. The previous day about 200 pounds were sold in Davis. These trips will be made periodically thus disposing of any glut and giving the people a chance to buy first hand from the fishermen.

Mrs. A. Brietzke is down with a severe cold but is not seriously ill.

Jack Enright is back in town after an absence of several years in San Francisco and Oakland. He will soon move his family here to make his permanent residence.

The eighth child was born last Tuesday to Mrs. George Thomas and his friends are congratulating him. The family is equally divided, four boys and four girls, the last being a boy.

Mrs. C. A. Kiff is home from Grimes after an absence of two weeks. She is entertaining her father who came up from Diablo.

A large oil barge is on the ways of the Sacramento Transportation Co. for repairs. The hull is practically being rebuilt.

The largest salmon caught this season, so far, was that landed last Tuesday by Harley Austin. It weighed 65 pounds and made a hard fight before giving in to superior strength.

Miss Emma Waldeck of Beatrice was the guest Wednesday at the home of Miss Neville Korell and attended the dance given by the Parent-Teacher Association at the school.

MINSTREL SHOW IS PROMISING A BIG CROWD

Next Friday evening, April 23d, at the Town Hall, Grace Council, Young Ladies Institute, of Sacramento, will give a minstrel and vaudeville show for the benefit of the Catholic Church in Washington.

The young ladies have been rehearsing during the past three weeks under the leadership of Miss Tessie O'Leary and she promises a fund of fun that will surprise the natives.

The young ladies have shown they are not mere amateurs at a previous entertainment. Two years ago they gave a somewhat similar entertainment and a crowded house greeted them with hearty applause.

Judging by the sale of tickets for the coming show standing room will be at a premium. Already Father Marcucci advises more than 300 tickets have been sold and canvassing is still going on.

Special stage effects are being procurred for the event and special dressing rooms will be fitted for the quick change artists who will take part.

The ladies of Washington have volunteered to decorate the hall for the evening.

The object is a worthy one, and people of all denominations are taking a hand to make it a success.

Refreshments will be served at which Mrs. Machado will preside.

A special orchestra of 10 pieces has been engaged and will play for the dance following the show.

About 40 young ladies will take part in the minstrel show and will attend the dance later.

Fred White, who has been ill with pneumonia, is slightly improved.

Russell Crase, employed with the railroad surveyors in Blue Canyon, was a visitor in Washington Wednesday.

Mrs. A. A. Dassonville and Mrs. Frank De Riso, accompanied by little Margaret Brash, went to Oakland last Wednesday where they will visit Mrs. Leo Brash.

Mrs. Louis Simoni of Suisun is visiting for a few days at the home of her mother, Mrs. C. Caffaro.

Mrs. Olga Machado has been ill at her home in Washington for a few days.

Mrs. J. R. Williams is able to be around her home after her recent illness.

Erna Klefman, daughter of Mrs. E. Klefman, has been ill with acute indigestion.

The pupils of the manual training classes in the Washington School are engaged in constructing six benches, which will be placed on the school grounds.

A marriage license was issued last Tuesday at the office of the County Clerk in Sacramento to William John Casselman of Washington and Hazel Chapman of San Jose. The age of the groom is given as 21 and of the bride as 20. Casselman is employed by eWinstock, Lubin & Co., and is a well-known amateur baseball player. During the war he was in the navy, and spent several months of service in Siberia.

The planting of memorial trees on the school ground in honor of the four Washington boys who died while in the service, has been postponed until fall. The trustees had formerly planned to hold a tree-planting service early in April.

William Cook has taken up his residence in the house recently vacated by Jack Reuter.

Miss Neville Korell and Miss Ardella Manchester were guests last Sunday at the home of Miss Emma Waldeck in Beatrice.

E. I. Hansen is improving the property which he recently purchased near the levee by filling it in.

Herman Garber of Norwood spent the week end visiting his mother, Mrs. H. Garber.

Miss Cleone Lynch and brother Jack of Roseville were week end visitors at the home of Mrs. Mamie Conzetti last Sunday.

Mrs. Albert Fuller and daughter spent the week end as visitors at the home of Mrs. Mabel Peterson.

The hour of the meeting of the Sunday-school of the Washington Sunday Community Church has been changed from 11 o'clock to 9:30 a. m. This change in time became effective last Sunday.

BITTER FEELING PREVAILS AGAINST YOLO COUNTY AUTHORITIES FOR RAIDS

IT APPEARS THAT THE WOODLAND REFORMERS ARE ANXIOUS TO DRIVE ALL BUSINESS MEN OUT OF WASHINGTON

There is no mistaking the public feeling prevailing in Washington in relation to the raids conducted by the county authorities last Friday night when A. Brietzke and Curtis Hoffman were placed under arrest for operating gambling devices in the shape of punch boards, and in the case of Brietzke for selling wine.

The raids were conducted by District Attorney McDonald, Sheriff Monroe and Under Sheriff Bob Woods. They were on their way to the boxing bouts in Sacramento and evidently expected to collect a little money while "on pleasure bent."

On Saturday Brietzke pleaded guilty before Judge Harrison in Woodland and was fined $200 for selling wine.

Hoffman's only crime was in having punch boards and a slot machine which paid in merchandise.

Hoffman showed he phoned McDonald asking if he might use the devices and was assured he could. On this showing the case against him was dismissed.

A similar charge against Brietzke was also dismissed.

On the charge of selling wine Brietzke pleaded guilty and paid his fine of $200.

In this case it appears that the District Atorney used a woman who is reported to be a disolute prostitute to secure the evidence. This woman cajoled C. Hunt into securing for her a bottle of wine.

Yielding to Hunt's pleadings Brietzke gave him the goods "for an old friend."

The Woodland papers have "done their damdest" in this case to blacken the name of Washington, and residents of this section are very sore as a result.

"Dead as a mackerel," Woodland seems to envy any manifestation of life in this community, and when the District Attorney lends himself to the reformers and does their bidding the taxpayers of this section are not bashful about expressing their opinions.

"Wait till he runs again," could be heard all week echoing between the Sacramento River and the Yolo Basin and between Elk Horn and Clarksburg.

Writing on the subject the Woodland Democrat remarks:

"Alleged law violating dens of Broderick, this county, received another rude shock unexpectedly last night when Sheriff J. W. Monroe, Under Sheriff Bob Woods and District Attorney C. C. McDonald dropped in in an off-hand sort of way and confiscated a couple of slot machines, some mixture labeled "booze" and several punch boards, and the gold and currency prizes offered the unwary for their earnings.

It is alleged that since the dry regime Washington has been the rendezvous of Sacramento and Yolo County itinerants who have been able to obtain drink with a "kick."

The Democrat is mistaken. Itinerants can't get kicks in Washington, but a few hard working men who spend all day before the blast furnaces or in the ship yards may sometimes be able to get something stronger than water.

SUPERVISORS GIVEN CREDIT FOR SAVING ROAD FUNDS

Concerning the granting of contracts for the building of county roads under the $1,000,000 bond issue, the Woodland Democrat wrote on April 13th:

"At a saving of not less than $58,577—the bids submitted yesterday afternoon being that much less than those opened three weeks ago—the Yolo County Board of Supervisors will let the contract next Monday for the first unit of the new million dollar highway and work will start a few days later on the Woodland-Knights Landing Link of 10.77 miles.

Although Supervisors M. H. Stitt and F. B. Edson were in favor of allowing the contract yesterday to the Clark & Henery Construction Co. the other members of the board were disposed to take a few days longer to investigate roads in San Francisco and Sonoma Counties and so the final decision was withheld until Monday next. That the board acted wisely in rejecting the bids received a few days ago, was clearly indicated when the figures opened Monday afternoon were found to be appreciably lower than those submitted previously.

The altered specifications and the fact that the board allowed the contractors to figure on using Cache creek gravel instead of Natomas crushed rock, were items that caused the road builders to lower their bids, it was explained to the board yesterday. By using the home gravel, which is held by Engineer Asa Proctor to be the equal of the imported crushed rock, the haul is lessened and the expense to the contractors substantially reduced.

Friends of the Clark & Henery interests were outwardly pleased with the turn taken in the road situation yesterday. Their roadwork in this district has been entirely satisfactory and the fact that they are valley contractors and were able to present bids less than those offered in other parts.

PROHI BEATS PROHIBITION

A Los Angeles prohibitionist laid in a large stock of beer before July 16th last for his own use.

Reverses came later and he was forced to dispose of his stock to help him over a bad period.

He opened a store but the law did not permit him to advertise his goods.

He had a large sign painted and placed it over his show window. The sign read:

"LARGER BERE HERE 5CTS"

A sugar refinery of San Francisco has raised its whole sale price to the distributors to 15½ cents a pound.

Perhaps the old maids and the kids may be forced to substitute alcohol for candy.

A. J. Wallace, candidate for United States Senator on the dry ticket, was a visitor in Sacramento for a few hours the other day.

He was interviewed by several members of the Grape Growers Association and they all promised to boost his cause and help him to attain his ambition.

That's a dirty lie.
